"I pledge myself to uphold the high purposes of the National Honor Society to which I have been elected. I will be true to the principles for which it stands. I will be loyal to my school and will maintain and encourage high standards of character, scholarship, leadership and service"

With this pledge, fifty-one new members were inducted into the Longfellow Chapter of the National Honor Society on February fourth, 1980. Ceremonies began with special addresses by selected new members on the principles for which the Society stands; excerpts from those addresses are on the facing page. Though the mood of the night cannot be recaptured, these observations might help to rekindle the spirit.

Character is defined as the composite of the qualities that make a person what he/she is. Character is used particularly in reference to the moral qualities which determine the way in which a person thinks, feels, and acts in relation to the principles of right and wrong. It is revealed by one's response to a given situation.

It has been said, "The world may take the liberty of making our reputations for us, but we alone can build our own character". Character is not an inherent quality; it is developed by the individual through association, participation, and imitation.

Our years at Pittsfield High have offered us many opportunities for the development of character. The opportunity to work and associate with the principals and faculty has provided us with some outstanding role models. The experience gained through participation in student government and advisory council organizations has enabled us to gain an administrative perspective and exercise discretion concerning school matters. The participants on sports teams and in musical groups have built a strong spirit of cooperation and camaraderie through competing and performing together. Opportunities for students to tutor special education children have been rewarding to both the tutor and the student alike, developing patience, understanding, and compassion.

Various community organizations and church groups have also encouraged students to participate in service projects which offer an awareness of the problems confronting a greater number of people in our area. These are just a few of the many opportunities through which one can develop strong traits of character.

Strength of character consists of two things: power of will and self-restraint. The power of will is shown in one's leadership abilities, which consist of dependability, perseverance, courage, and patriotism. The virtues of honesty, patience, generosity, temperance, and reverence are supportive of the power of self-restraint. These traits which we have developed are tested daily in the course of our work and leisure time. How we respond to these tests will determine the formation of our own character. As Joseph Kaines has said, "Habits form character and character is destiny", resulting either in our failure or in our success.

The importance of character is well-expressed in a motto found above the archway of a school in Germany. It reads:

"When wealth is lost, nothing is lost;
When health is lost, something is lost;
When character is lost, all is lost!"

Diane Koenitzer

Each year, the requirements for induction into the National Honor Society are the same. One must be intelligent, one must have character, one must be a leader, but what one adjective describes one who has served? There is none. It is in serving that one shows one's intelligence, character, and ability to lead; therein lies the importance of service.

The students here serve Pittsfield High School through a variety of organizations. Among us are sports captains, Class officers, club presidents, and publications editors. Each knows what it is to serve. One must be able to motivate a group, to get people excited about projects and plans. Intelligence is a necessity; there are constant decisions to be made about those plays, fund-raisers, and projects which will work and those which will not. Moreover, one must have initiative; one must be able to take charge. Goals will not be attained unless they are strived for. Character, leadership, and intelligence are all inherent in service.

A valid question might be, "if service is merely a mixture of these three qualities, then why is it a requirement of the Honor Society?" Service is more than just a mixture of intelligence, character, and leadership; it is a successful mixture - an ability to make your talents work for you and others. The basketball captain knows how great it feels when her play succeeds. The class officer realizes success when the profits of a fund raiser are greater than expected. The yearbook editor knows how much a particularly good layout will be enjoyed. In each case, the students' abilities have led to success. In each case, the student has done a great service to the school, to the organization, and to herself or himself.

There are many ways in which one may serve, and there are many kinds of service. The teachers and administrators whom we see day after day are serving to educate Pittsfield's youth. The City Council members and other government officials are serving Pittsfield's democracy. The many doctors and lawyers are serving Pittsfield's health and well-being. Each of these persons needs the character, the leadership, and the scholarship that we have needed in our school service. As we are the teachers, doctors, and government officials of tomorrow, our successful mixture of these qualities will make our future services meaningful.

Susan Lidstone

"I am either first horse in the pack, or I am none."

No one should be satisfied with second best, if he or she has the ability to be number one. All of you (Honor Society members) have proven that you have this ability. You should strive not only to be a leader during your school years, but also to be a leader for the rest of your life, in whatever you may do. To be the example, to set the standards rather than simply to carry them, that others may see and follow - these are the goals of the leader - to be a leader in the community, among your peers, within your occupation, but most of all, to be a leader of humanity.

Russell Haims

One of the four qualities which a student must display to be a member of the National Honor Society is scholarship. Scholarship is a word which I have always taken for granted until I was asked to speak on the subject. Suddenly, I found myself at a loss for words, and for me that's unusual. Having no other alternative, I turned to the dictionary for help.

According to the American Heritage Dictionary, scholarship is "the methods, disciplines and attainments of a scholar". Not exactly a very helpful definition. So, I tried Random House.

According to the Random House Dictionary, scholarship is "the academic attainments of a scholar". Didn't get too much out of that one either.

Funk and Wagnall's Magic Book defines scholarship as the mental attainments of a scholar; also, scholarly character or qualities; scholarly inquiry or research. At this point I almost called Mr. Coan and said, "Bill, I'm not speakin'. Find another kid." But, I just couldn't let him down, so I pulled out my Daniel Webster's.

As the saying goes, according to Webster, scholarship is "the quality of knowledge and learning shown by a student. Also, the systematized knowledge of a learned man exhibiting accuracy, critical ability, and thoroughness".

There it was, in black and white. Scholarship is not only knowledge or intelligence; it is knowledge and learning. It is the wanting to learn, the desire to know, the actual joy of study.

Interestingly enough, the final key to the definition of scholarship lies in the etymology of the word, for scholarship comes from the Greek skolaire which does not mean intelligence or even anything similar. Skolaire means leisure. What does leisure have to do with scholarship? I shall tell you . . .

A true scholar is a person who desires knowledge so much that he studies in his leisure time. He is always striving to improve himself, to become a better person.

This, then, is the characteristic which members of the National Honor Society must have, for the National Honor Society is not just a bunch of smart kids. It is a group of intelligent young people who desire knowledge. They love to learn. When they do an assignment, they always put in that little something extra and learn just that much more. It is this quality which makes them true scholars, and this is why they are part of one of the most prestigious organizations in the country.

JOHN C. DAVIS, PH.D.

Pittsfield High School

WILLIAM P. COAN, Principal

To the Class of 1980:

During my years at Pittsfield High School I have found that each graduating class assumes a unique personality of its own. I found that your class possessed a personable, good natured humanism that conveyed a sense of warmth to the staff and administration.

Your members represented a broad spectrum of interests and abilities. You exhibited strength in the areas of athletics, community service, and academics. Our teams won city and county championships and represented Pittsfield well in Western Massachusetts tournaments. Your members involved themselves in the community as special education aides, academic tutors, and organizers of various community drives including a very successful blood donation campaign.

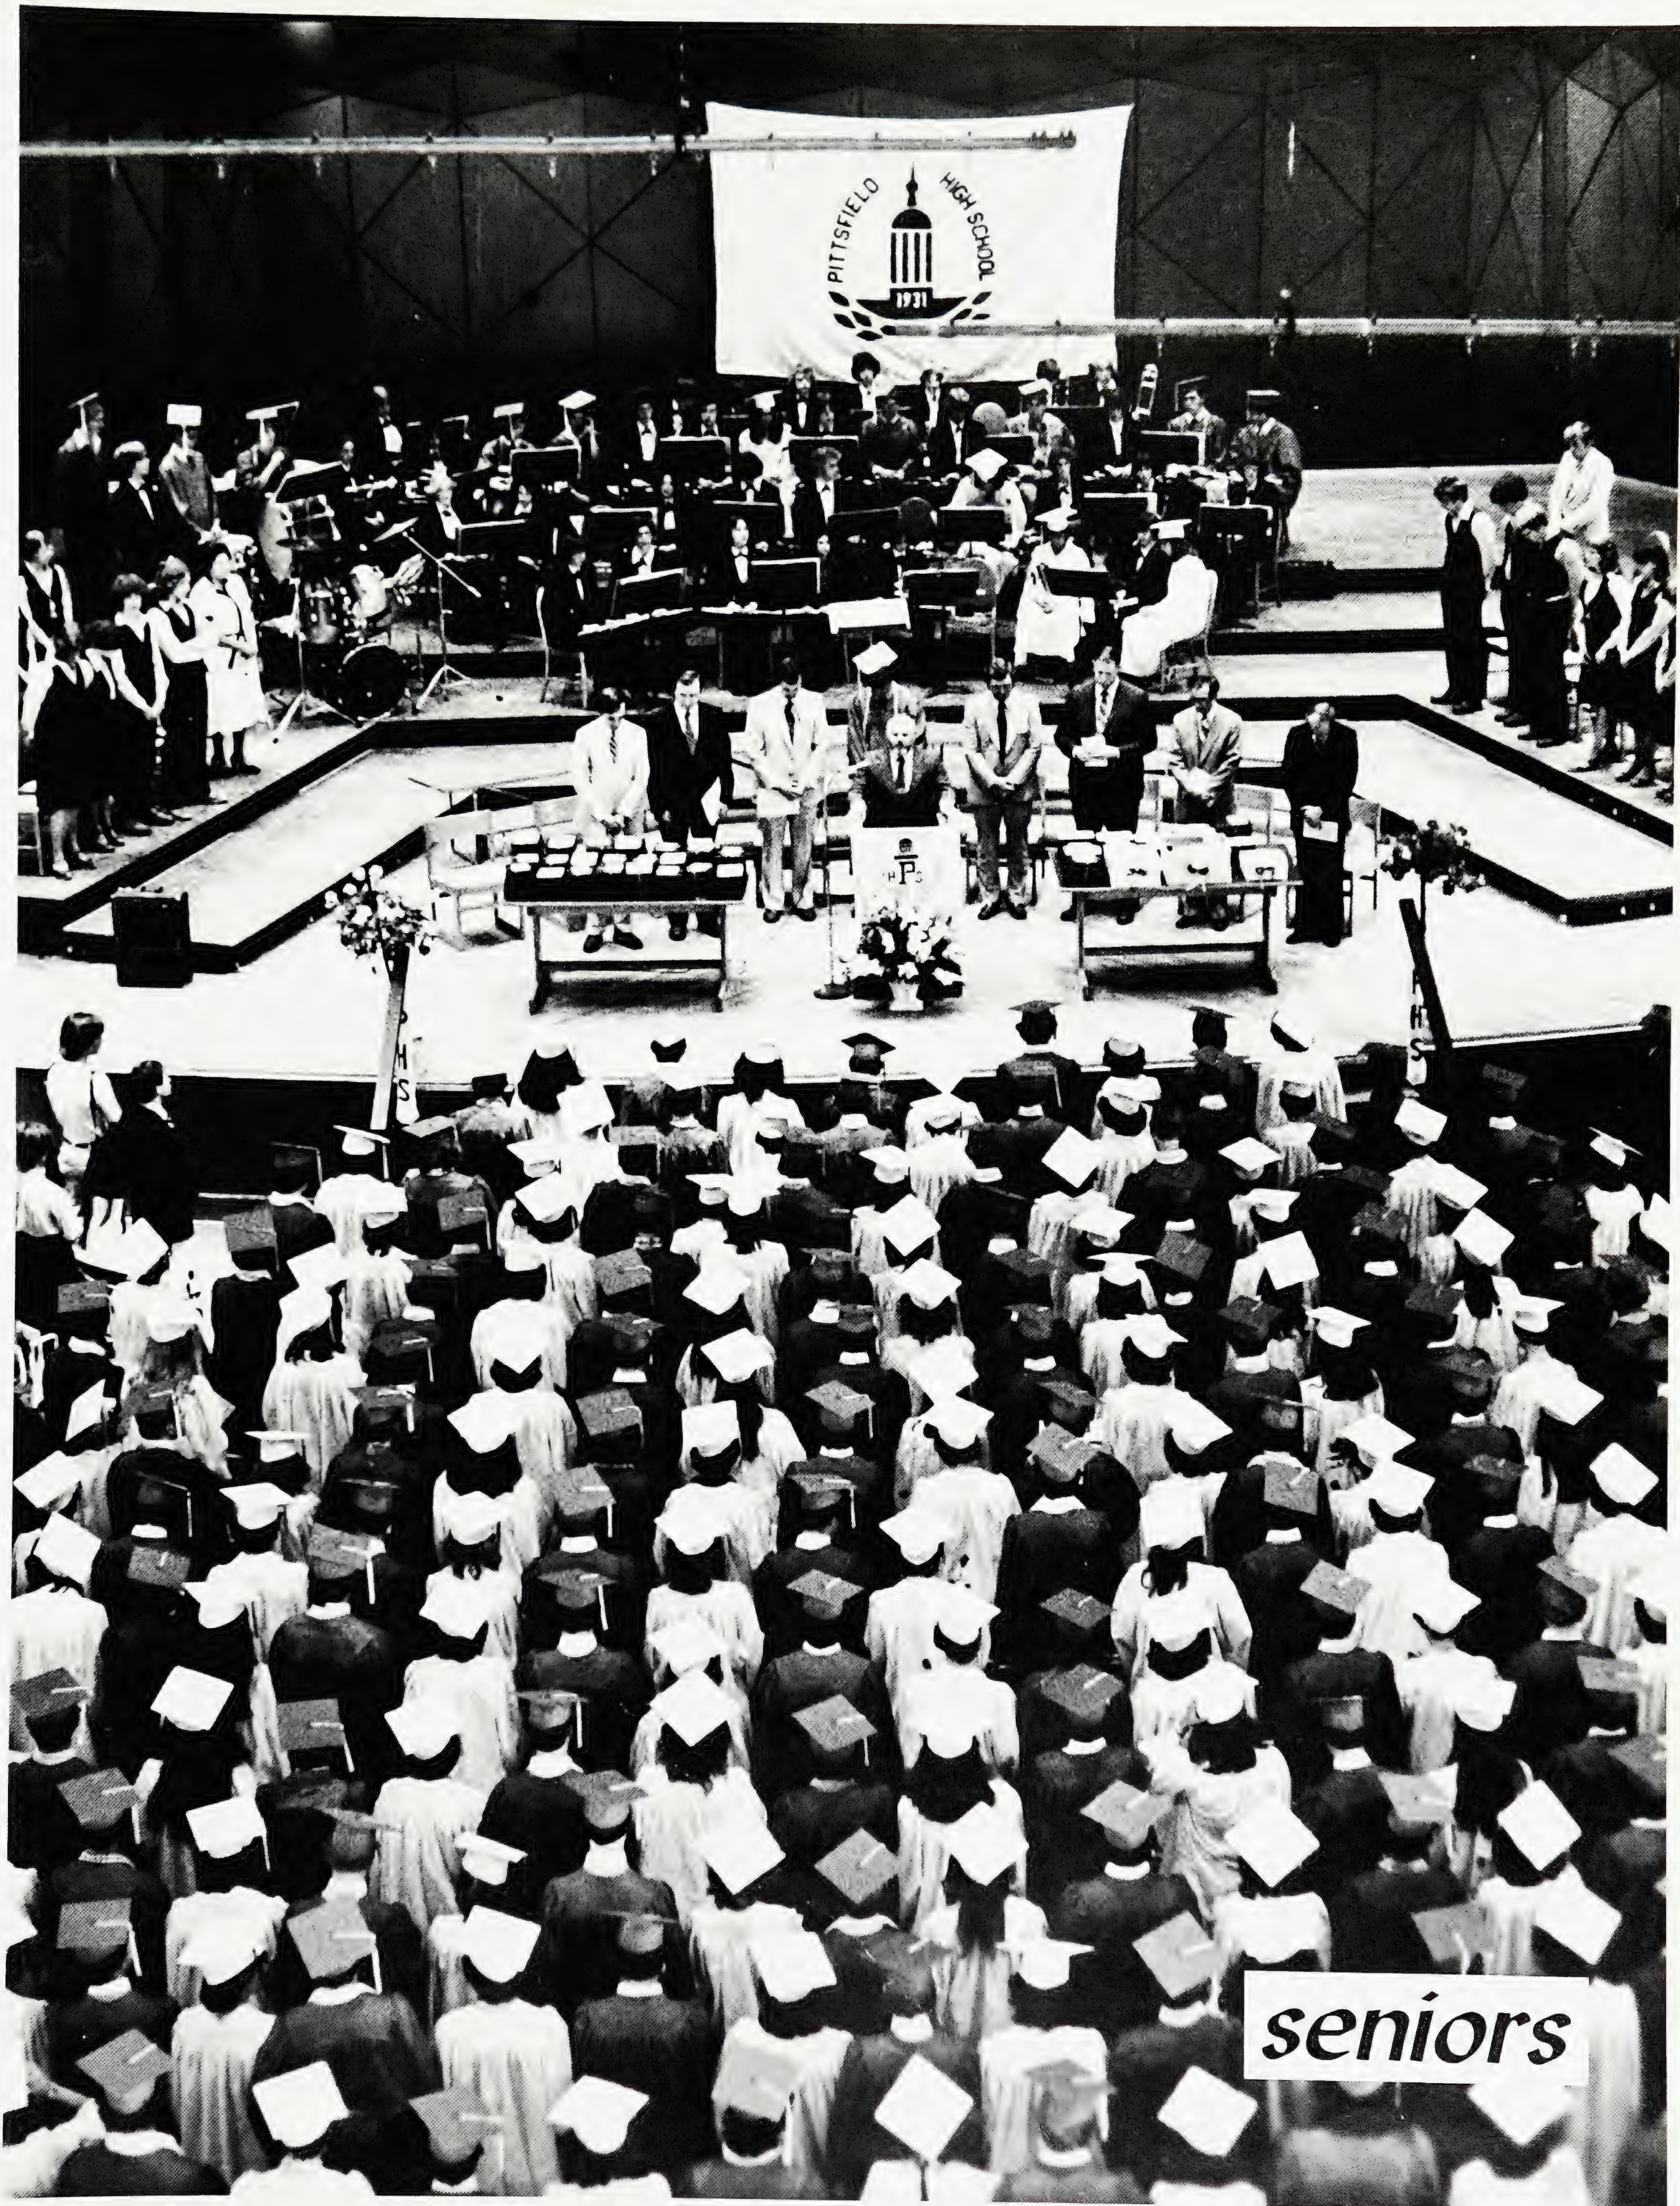

Your members received numerous academic honors including several National Merit Letters of Commendation, Olympiad Mathematics Certificates, All Western Mass. Chorus and Band Appointments and Math League and Latin League championships.

The strength of a school lies with the quality of its students and staff. Pittsfield High School has become the beneficiary of your spirit, character, and good will. I felt a sense of pride and poignancy when I presided at your graduation. Pride because Pittsfield High School had helped to contribute to your personal academic growth and poignancy because you will be missed.

I hope you will build upon your positive attributes and return to Pittsfield to help maintain its strength and vibrancy.

Yours very truly,

William P. Coan

Perhaps the most ambitious undertaking of any class ever, the DOTS concert was organized, promoted, and presented by the Class of 1980. Even the stage was erected by class members. Though poorly supported by the senior class, the concert gave those in attendance more than their money's worth of hard rock and roll. On stage for nearly two hours, the DOTS played strictly original compositions - a refreshing change from radio, records, and tapes. Special guest Al DeFreest and his group also played.

Though these photos cannot illustrate the colorful lights or costumes, they do project some of the mood of the event.

Seniors Dan Regan and Greg Toot, and Juniors Dan Conway and Pete Mitchell were big contributors to the General team. John Brunjes set a home course record of 14 min. 20 sec. and a course record of 13 min. 53 sec. at Drury to highlight the year.

The Pittsfield High Soccer Team posted an outstanding overall record of 15 - 2 - 1, undefeated in league play for the second straight year. Senior Co - Captains Dean DiMassimo and Steve Moynahan took charge of a talented General team which rolled to its second Berkshire County Championship. The team showed balance and depth both offensively and defensively, the offensive charge being led by seniors Dean DeMassimo, Mike Lavigne, Steve Moynihan, Tim Dwyer, and Dave Francoeur. Seniors Ed Fox, Phil Hooker, and Paul Schneider led a stingy General defense.

Following a win over Hudson in the season opener, the PHS football team experienced a frustrating series of defeats against formidable teams. Plagued by injuries, the squad yet salvaged the season with the City Championship. In a thrilling 7 - 6 win over Taconic, the point after cleared the uprights with but 11 seconds on the clock.

The 1980 Girls' Basketball Team had what most will remember as a "rebuilding" year. Lacking experience, and less successful at winning than teams of recent years, the squad nonetheless maintained that renowned General spirit, and displayed a substantial improvement in play by the close of the season. Led by Co-Captains Stephanie Lipton and Nancy Ruscio, the team also drew heavily upon the talents of seniors Jane Taylor, Mickie Gleason, and Regina Belford. With her fine skills and great sense of humor, Coach Debbie Donovan was an inspiration to all.

Finishing the season with a 14-7 record, the 1980 Pittsfield High Basketball team earned a berth in the Western Mass. tournament. Excitement in see-saw battles - especially with cross-town rivals Taconic and St. Joe - kept the fans on the edge of their seats. Led by Tri- Captains Gary Hodlin, Ron Wojcik, and scoring ace Pat Lavelle, the Generals depended on Chris Tremblay's

Once again, the champion General Ski Team showed its supremacy on the slopes, capturing the state crown as well as the county title. Sophomore Eric Voelker dominated the field, finishing first in many meets - most notably the State Championships. Strong showings by seniors Dave Dube and Scott Raymakers and junior Dan Conway enabled the Generals to ski to the top of the league.

A young squad, faced with a lack of experience and depth, the PHS swimmers had, nonetheless, a thrilling season, which culminated in a stunning second-place finish by Paul Hunter in the breaststroke at Western Mass. competition. Led by juniors Gary Brennan and Hunter, the team faced perennially powerful Western Mass. teams with enthusiasm and spirit, always giving their opponents cause for uneasiness. In the backstroke, senior Ann Huban offered competitors - mostly of the opposite sex - a real challenge, while senior teammate Krista Swanson excelled in the diving events, as the camera has shown, with grace and style. The 1981 team should prove even stronger, as Amy Peronto, Lorraine Lee, Peter Mitchell, Chip Blowe, and Pat McGovern all have been consistent winners.

As is almost customary, PHS hockey fans were spoiled with the taste of victory before the 79-80 season came to a close against Longmeadow in the Western Mass. Finals. En route to a 17-5-3 record, Coach Don Murphy's squad won the Hennessey League and County Championships before meeting defeat in the playoffs. Fittingly enough, the emotional leaders of the team were senior Co-Captains Tom Opie and Shawn Brennan. While wizard Opie performed his feats of magic in front of the net, Brennan provided the arduous corner work that mobilized a potent offense. Surrounding this core were seniors Mark "Elbows" Connally, Phil Hooker, Dan Regan, John Broderick, and Dave Harrington, along with a well-balanced junior and sophomore contingent.

The 1980 wrestling season began under unusual circumstances; with no wrestlers in the higher weight classes, Coach Sylvester faced forfeits in these classes throughout what could prove to be a very long season. The solution to the dilemma lay in seniors Matt Castro and Peter Martin. Drafted into the PHS wrestling squad, and with no previous experience in competition, each won his first meet and went on to help anchor a strong PHS team which was to bury cross-town rival Taconic on two occasions and which would give stiff competition even to perennially powerful Springfield teams. Standouts were steady pinners Jack Henault, Greg Thompsen, and Paul Gimlewicz of the Class of 1980, and juniors Mike Palmieri, Steve Peplowski, and Todd Whitehill

With a regular season record of eighteen wins against only four losses, the Pittsfield High Baseball Team of 1980 had an outstanding year. Making the Western Mass. playoffs, the squad lost to powerful Agawam by a close decision in a pitching duel. Behind the steady pitching of senior Pete Kellar and junior Steve Harris, and led by the bat and defense of Doug Chamblin, Jon-Eric White, Dean DiMassimo, and Darryn Klemansky, the Generals gave the fans much to cheer about throughout the long, tough season.

Once again, the PHS tennis team dominated Berkshire County competition, losing only one match, and that by but a single game. Steve Moynahan and Debbie Desgroseilliers and Steve "three set" Marquis led the singles, while the strong net play of doubles teams of Paul Curro and Mike Cirone, and Phil Landa and Ross Leach consistently downed the opposition. Debbie Desgroseilliers was Berkshire County and Western Mass. Champion, losing only in the State Finals, while the entire PHS team represented Berkshire County in the Western Mass. finals

The 1980 PHS Softball season was far better than the record might indicate, for many games were close, as the scores will attest. Only consistency was needed, as outstanding play would build up a strong lead which would then slip away on errors, and consistency can only come from the experience which was just not with us. Nonetheless, the fans had much to cheer about, and will certainly miss Reg, Foster, Mel, and J.T.

It was another perfect season, and the PHS golf team now has twenty-three consecutive wins in league play, the County Championship, the City Championship for the sixth consecutive year, and, in Chris Tremblay's smoking 63, the best high school league score ever. With awesome depth, this team is not about to stop its winning ways for a long time. Coach Ryan will see to that!

Led by coaches Janice MacDonald and Vicki White, and Co-Captains Dolores Biagini and Sue Koscher, the 1980 Girls' Track Team completed a strong and spirited season, finishing third in Berkshire County competition.

The Generals sent sixteen team members to Individual and Western Mass. competition, where they competed in all but three events. Team standout Dolores Biagini also competed in the long jump at the Massachusetts State Meet. Under the leadership of Captains - elect Maria Pytko and Julie Capers, the 1981 team should prove to be equally strong.

Once again the PHS Boys' Track team was a strong force, completing the season with a second-place finish in Berkshire County competition. Led by Co-Captains Greg Toot and Jack Henault and by Coach Gary Curry and Coach John Papirio, the Generals were a team all the way, sending sixteen members to Western Massachusetts and Individual competitions, where the mile and 440 relay teams competed. Greg Toot captured first place in the 330 Low Hurdles in Western Mass, and competed in that event and in the pole vault at the State Meet.

Class Day

Tuesday, June 10, 1980: After the music and the laughs, the candlelight ceremony which symbolizes the spirit of Pittsfield High. The flame is passed; with it, hopefully, some of our strength and enthusiasm, as the Class of 1980 bids farewell and good luck to the Juniors and Sophomores.

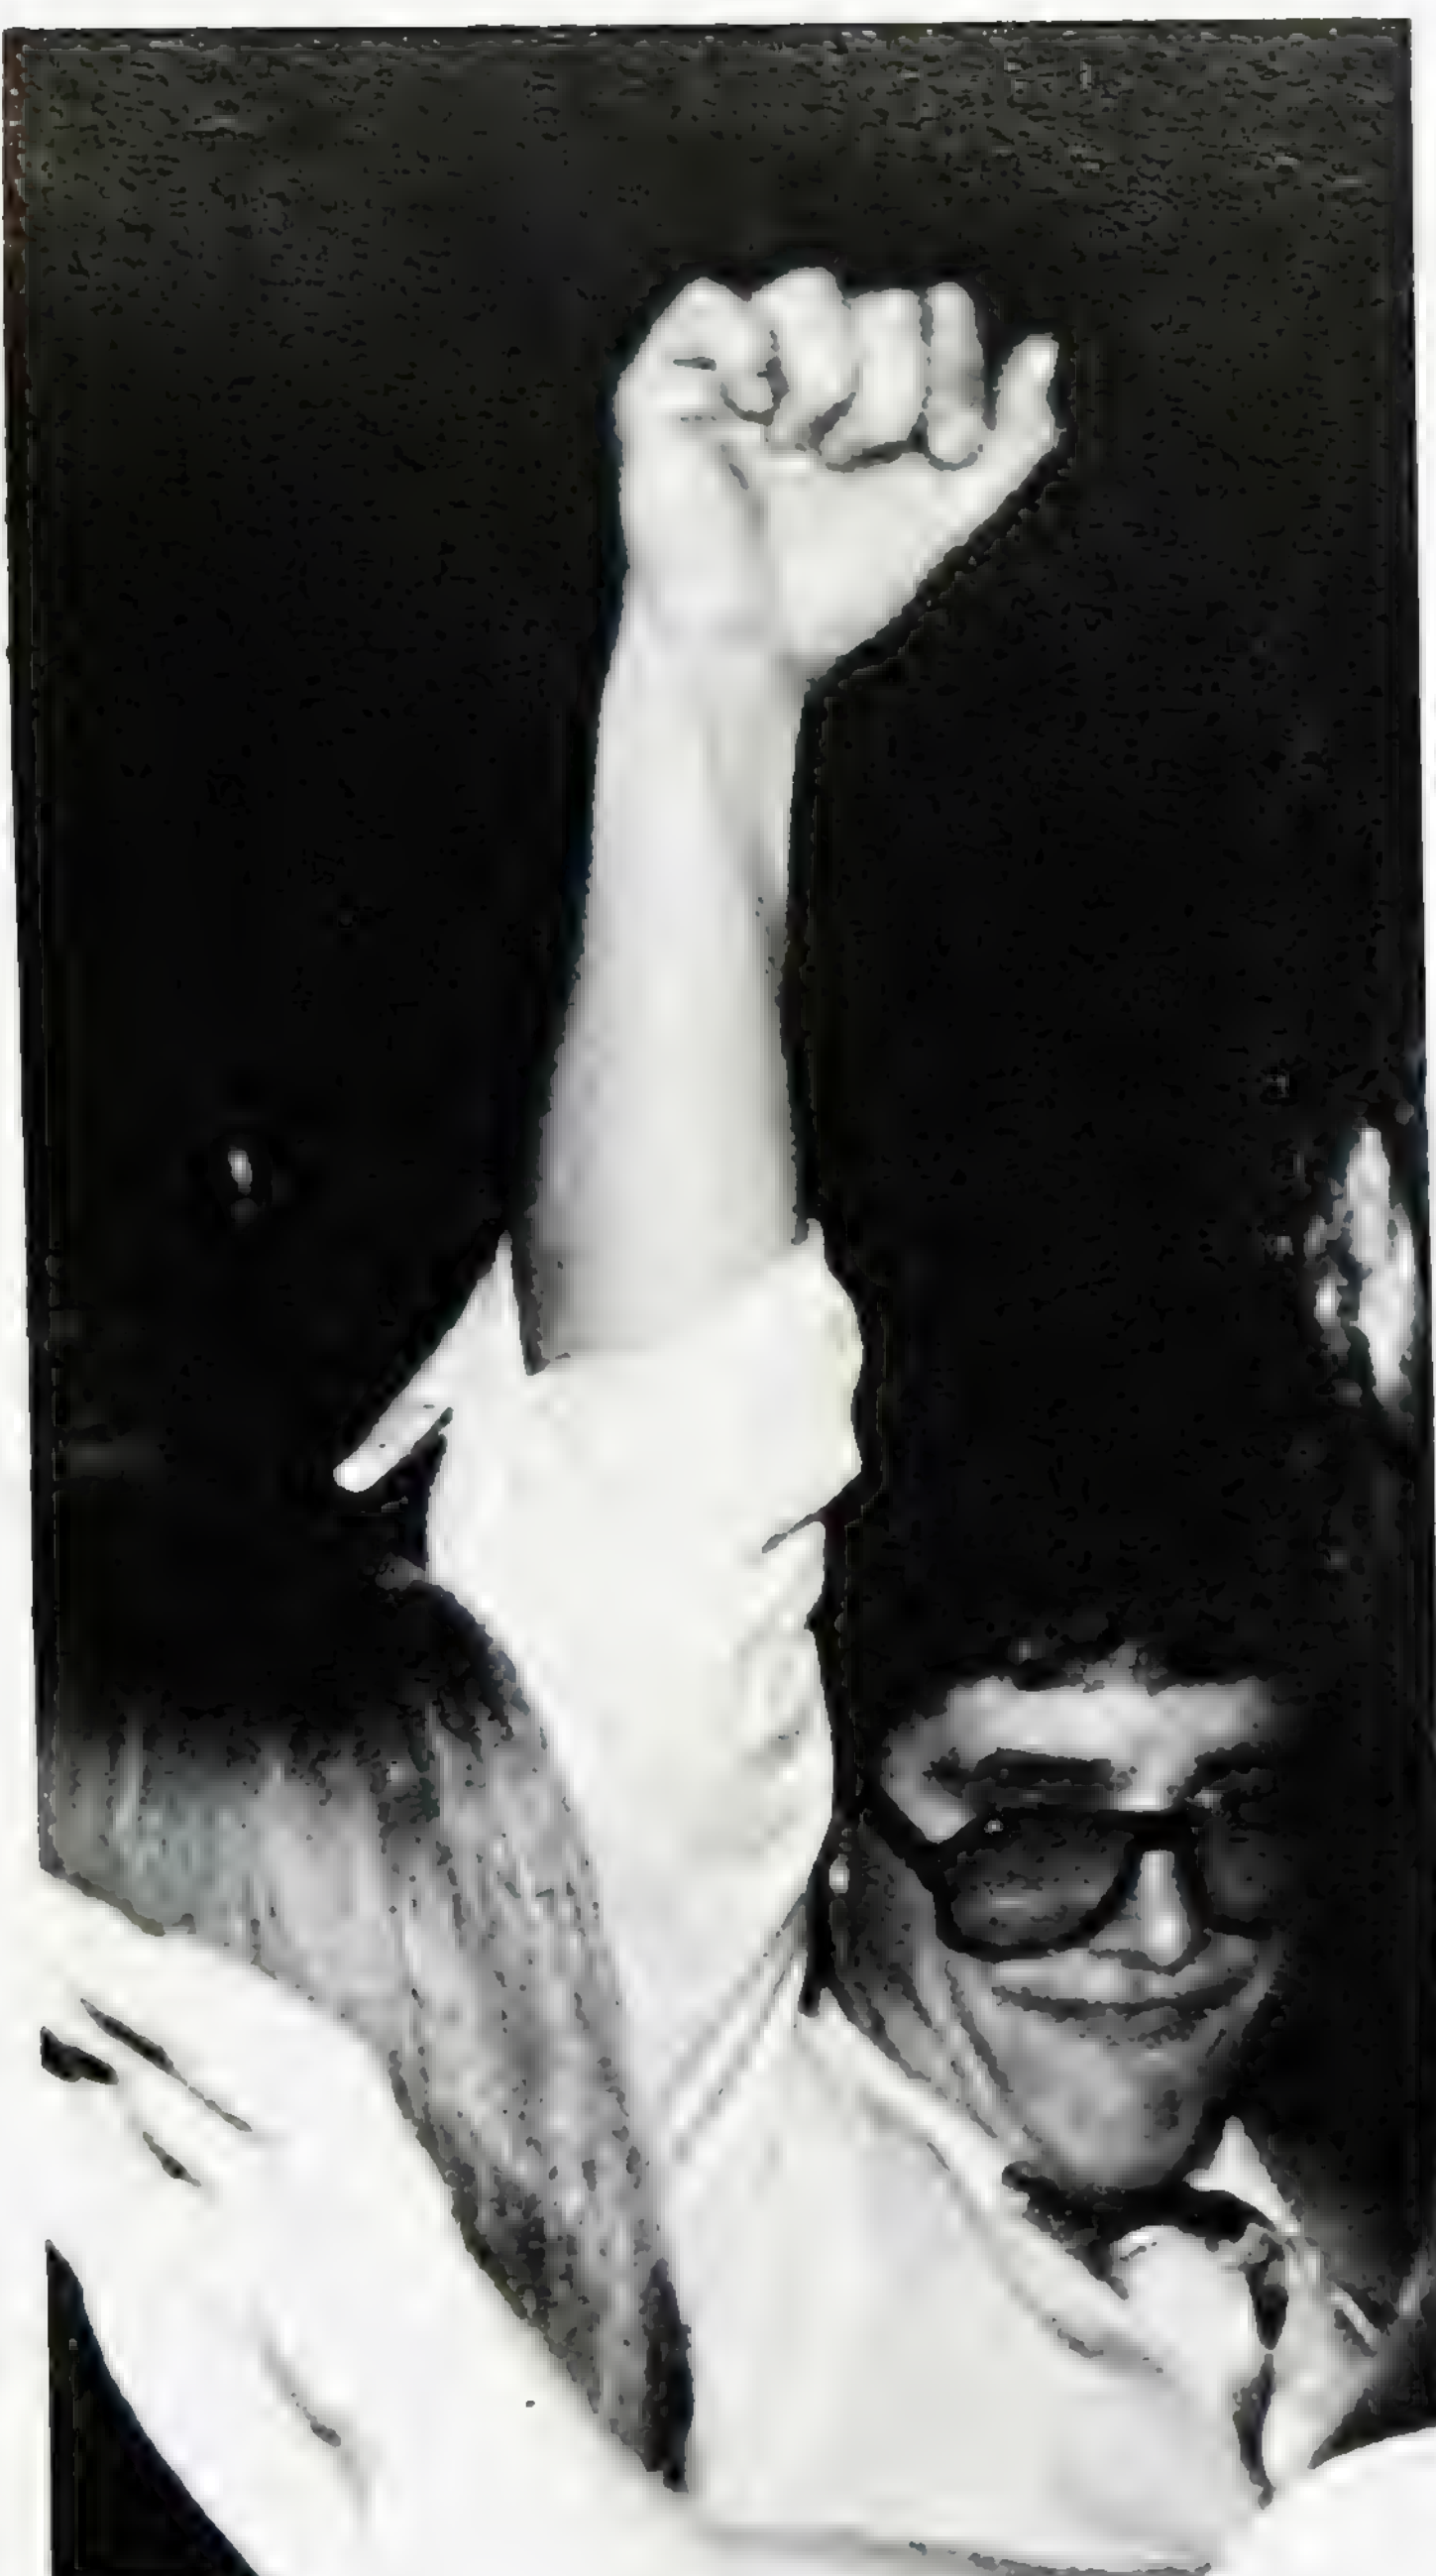

Class Picnic

Wednesday, June 11, 1980 - the day the Senior class let loose with all the stored-up madness from three years at PHS (or couldn't you tell from the pictures?). Tomorrow, the Prom; Sunday, Graduation; then, well . . . that's too far ahead to think on a day like this turned out to be - food, frisbee, soccer, softball, horseshoes, swings, food, chicken fights, and aching sides from laughs

Graduation!

As the Tassel is moved,
so is a lifetime.
The paths are chosen;
only the journey remains . . .
Godspeed.

And so the Tassle was moved for the graduating class at Tanglewood on June 15, 1980. For some, it was moved with tears and fond memories; for others, it was moved with excitement. For all, it marked both an end and a beginning, and punctuated a day that will long be remembered.

And so the final copy is written, the Yearbook is finished, the Dome staff, with the rest of the Class of 1980, scatters in pursuit of life. Good Luck! Godspeed! . . .

And Peace.

such a
advice

Y. K.

To the Class of 1980 -

By the time you read this, your graduation - and my congratulations - will be a memory to be rekindled with your class book. After all, it is the purpose of a yearbook to be a record of and for the graduating class, and the publication of this one has been an endeavor which few of us on staff will soon forget.

As the wandering photographer, I attended more class events, saw more games, and had more good times than I've ever before enjoyed with any class, and there is a major part of us all in this book. You have here the work of a truly inspired and dedicated staff - a yearbook which will become a standard by which others are judged.

To the DOME Staff -

very special persons - a few thoughts from your haggard Advisor - for the laughs, for the headaches, for the pre-deadline panic and the post-deadline blues; above all, for the warmth and the caring, my thanks. I've grown close to you, and I'll miss you.

Rick Olshak

To the Class of '80:

I have really enjoyed these three years with you, and hope that your future years are successful and happy ones. Thanks to everyone who worked with me and with your officers to make this a fine graduating CLASS.

Chris Jacoby

to all the members of the class of '80 who helped make teaching enjoyable, and especially to the members of the Dome Advertising staff for their assistance.

T. Dillon

This page is but a small expression of the Class of 1980's gratitude to Mr. Oltsch. His devotion to the production of this yearbook required far more than a partial commitment, yet he met this test with an enthusiasm that rubbed off on us all. The high standards that he required were met out of pure respect for the example that he set. Thank you Mr. Oltsch, for helping us to produce such a superlative yearbook, and mostly, for being our friend.
